FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1912

Mr. Wilson, the president-elect, has stated that he will call an extra session of congress not later than April 15, for a revision of the tariff. He proposes to make good his promises to the people.

The recent presidential election has had less effect upon the business interests of the country than any presidential election in many years. The fact that the result was known from the beginning of the campaign had much to do with trade conditions. Everybody seems to have confidence in Wilson. He is regarded as a very safe and sane man.

Reminding Jerseyites of their many blessings, Governor Wilson said: "Another year of peace and prosperity has passed by. The life of the state and the nation has been undisturbed by war or pestilence or disaster of any kind. We have been free to choose our own ways and have gone through the varied action of a great political campaign without violence or passion. The hope of our people has arisen with an increase of their life and God has been very gracious to us in all His dealings."

President and Mrs. Taft are to invite Governor Wilson and wife to visit them at the White House during the holidays. The president accepts the situation with an equanimity that emphasizes a total lack of surprise or disappointment when the returns came it. It is not to be expected, of course, that the incumbent would manifest any extraordinary jubilation over the turn that affairs have taken, and yet this social courtesy and personal consideration is out of the ordinary and demonstrates a kindness of heart that the recipients must duly appreciate. Besides, it is a good example to the country generally never to let political differences interfere with personal relations or obscure the obvious amenities.—Nashville Democrat.

Capt. T. F. Peck, commissioner of agriculture, has announced the appointment of A. M. Stout, of near Greenfield, as feed and seed inspector for West Tennessee. Mr. Stout succeeds Percy A. Barbee, who resigned some weeks ago. Greenfield Times.

This is the job our neighbor, the editor of the Republican, was an applicant for some months ago, and Mr. Stout is the Weakley county republican that made the race for federal representative several years ago, against J. T. Peeler, and received the cordial support of some of the regular democrats of this place, because of Mr. Peeler's stand for temperance.

Sometime next summer or fall, no exact date being specified, a vessel will pass from the Atlantic to the Pacific across what is now the Isthmus of Panama, which consequently must disappear from the world's geography and by the same human agency the western hemisphere will be divided into two continents. The vessel will not be the Oregon or any other famous ship, but it will be one of the many small water craft in daily use by the canal builders; and probably the only passengers will be Col. George W. Goethals and the staff of American engineers, who for the past eight years have been carrying on the greatest engineering work the world has ever seen.

The farmers of the county should attend the Farmers' Institute, to be held in Huntingdon Saturday. The holding of these institutes is an evidence of progressiveness that should be encouraged. There is no denying the fact that meetings of this kind can be made profitable to those who attend. Some of our farmers cry down or make light of such gatherings, but those who do so place themselves on the back-number list. The progressive farmer is the successful farmer. The successful farmer is the farmer who takes advantage of every opportunity to improve his condition. The farmer who thinks he knows it all is generally a farmer who knows but very little and is not much of a success any way.

The Trezevant Chieftian, in the last week's issue, went after the bootleggers of that town and community in no uncertain way. The Chieftian has heard of one of that gentry who, while engaged in selling "booze," is robed in a solid white garment, and the sex of the aforsaid pleyer of this nefarious trade is not known. The Chieftian says that such business must stop, and adds that it is absurd to think of such lawlessness being practiced in a town made up of high-toned, law-abiding citizens. The Chieftian also intimates that the town will suffer if such lawlessness is permitted to continue. The Chieftian could as truthfully have said that the town is already being hurt by its lawlessness and its strong sentiment against law-enforcement. Recent troubles have placed the town in the limelight in an unenviable way.

STATE-WIDE LAWS

The Nashville Democrat in its effort to get a grain of comfort out of the recent election, in its bearing upon the whisky question, insists that both branches of the legislature is democratic and therefore the Democrat's policy on statewide prohibition is vindicated.

During the campaign the Nashville Democrat's contention was that the election of McMillin would mean an endorsement of the democratic platform which stood for the modification of the whisky laws, but since McMillin was defeated that was not an issue in the race for governor, but other things brought about his defeat. The contest, however, according to this authority, was in the legislative race and as both branches of the legislature are democratic, as it insists, it will become the duty of the legislature to enact the legislation on the liquor question provided in the democratic platform.

This is not only the contention of the Nashville Democrat, but it is the insistence of all who desire the bringing back of the open saloon to the state. And this is what will be done if their claim that a majority of the legislature favor a repeal of these laws is true.

A majority of the voters of the state have said that they do not desire the laws changed. This was clearly the issue between Hooper and McMillin, and while all other democratic candidates carried the state by handsome majorities, yet Hooper defeated McMillin by a big vote showing emphatically that the people do not want our temperance laws repealed.

BALLOT BOX THEFT

Never before has such a bold political outrage been committed in Madison county as that which occurred between midday Saturday and Monday morning at 10:30, when the steel vault of the county clerk's office was entered and the strong wooden box broken open and rifled of part of the returns of last Tuesday's election, which had been placed there for safe keeping.

The returns of sixteen out of thirty-three voting precincts are missing, with no clue to who the thief or thieves were.

The votes had all been unofficially counted and the result declared and it is evident on the face of it that the object in robbing the ballot box was to prevent the election commissioners from making a recount Monday morning and officially announcing the result.

The boddiness of the deed and the obvious effort of its perpetrators to thwart the will of the people makes it essential that every wheel should be put in motion to apprehend and punish the criminals who are not only seeking to rob the people of the right of the ballot, but who have outraged and insulted the dignity of the people of Madison by going into the steel vault which contained the county records.

It is hard to understand how the entrance to the vault was made by amateur cracksmen, and yet no professional, without being employed and paid by those in whose interest the ballots were stolen, would have any object or motive in taking them.

Memphis has experienced several robberies of this kind, but never before has such a disgrace fallen upon Jackson and Madison county, and all good citizens should lend their aid in every way to the detection and punishment of the criminals.—Jackson Sun.
